This 5-bay, 1 1/2 story vernacular brick house was built in 1849. The house may be the same structure that appears on the 1859 map of Washington County and was owned by L. Middlekauff. The house is significant due to its association with the National Road during the first period, The Hey Day (1810-1850) and for its associated with Pikeville, which later came to be known as Huyett. It is representative of a vernacular house built along the National Road and contributes to the road's history and significance.

A one story, one bay stone out building is located behind the house.
(See attached Maryland Historic Trust (MHT) Inventory Form).

The house retains sufficient setting and enough integrity to meet criteria A and C. and is recommended eligible for the National Register of Historic Places.

Brick House, Huyett
Hagerstown Vicinity
private

Mid 19th Century

This mid 19th century brick house is five bays wide and one and a half stories high with dormer windows. It shows a number of stylistic influences of the period during which it was built such as the symmetrical front, the large windows and the classically inspired trim on the dormers, all of which are characteristic of rural versions of the Greek Revival style.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This house is located at Huyetts Crossroads, on the east side of Maryland route 63 just south of U.S. Route 40. It stands on an area of level ground and faces north. The building is a one and a half story five bay brick structure resting on fieldstone foundations. A modern one story brick addition extends to the rear or south. The entire structure has been painted white.

The walls display American or common bond brickwork at all elevations with eight courses of stretchers between header rows at the front elevation and a ratio of five to one courses at the other walls. Flat arches one brick in height are present above the window and door openings. The west gable end of the house was altered after damage which resulted when a truck ran into this part of the building. There is now a modern exterior chimney and a picture window in the gable end wall.

Openings appear to have been arranged symmetrically in the front elevation. Windows have narrow mitred casings finished with a bead at the inside edge. They hold nine over six pane double hung sashes and have hinge pins which indicate that shutters were present at one time. Other windows in the original section have six over six pane sashes. In the north slope the roof above the second and fourth bays are a pair of gable roofed dormers with six over six sashes. The windows are flanked by pilasters which suggest the doric order.

The main entrance is located in the center bay of the front elevation. Its casing is similar to that of the windows and frames a six panel door and a three light transom.

The roof is sheathed with modern asphalt shingles and terminates with tapered barge boards set directly against the end walls. Small brick chimneys rise from inside the gable ends.

According to the present owner, the date 1849 and the name Bragunier was found in the cellar and the date 1850 with the name Jacobs in the attic.

Behind the house is a one story, one bay stone outbuilding which may have been used as a secondary dwelling. It has a partially rebuilt brick chimney.

The buildings appear to be in good to excellent condition and stand on a tract containing 5.25 acres

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This mid 19th century brick house is five bays wide and one and a half stories high with dormer windows. It shows a number of stylistic influence of the period during which it was built such as the symmetrical front, the large windows and the classically inspired trim on the dormers, all of which are characteristic of rural versions of the Greek Revival style.

Deed records do not reveal specific information about this property and it is not known from information available at present whether the 1849 and 1850 dates found in the cellar and attic with the names Bragunier and Jacobs respectively indicate individuals who were working on the house or whether either or both were owners. The mid 19th century dates are certainly consistent with the architectural evidence provided by the house. On an 1859 Map of Washington County this property is designated as being owned by L. Middlekauff.
